Securitas Recognized as One of America's Greatest Workplaces for Women and Diverse Employees

Company Continues to Champion Diversity as a Key Driver in Innovation and Excellence

Parsippany, NJ – October 4, 2024 – Securitas North America, the leader in intelligent security services, is proud to announce its recognition as one of America's Greatest Workplaces for Women and Diverse Employees by Newsweek magazine. This prestigious recognition highlights the company's efforts to foster an inclusive and innovative workplace, where diversity is not only celebrated but considered a fundamental pillar of its innovation strategy.

With a workforce of 99,000 employees across 500 locations in North America, Securitas is home to a highly diverse employee population, with 68% of its workforce representing various racial, ethnic, and cultural backgrounds.

"Being recognized by Newsweek is a testament to our ongoing efforts to create an inclusive environment where individuals feel valued and empowered to contribute," said Chrissy Toskos, Chief Human Resources Officer, Securitas North America. "In a people-centered business like ours, diversity and inclusion are not just values; they are essential to our ability to innovate and meet the evolving needs of our clients. This recognition is just the beginning of our journey. We have a long way to go, and we remain deeply committed to finding new ways to continue fostering a culture where all employees can thrive as their authentic selves."

At the heart of Securitas' success is its people. Securitas understands that an inclusive workplace is key to unlocking innovation, enabling the company to better serve its clients today and to continue to evolve to meet their needs of tomorrow.

In a recent blog post, Securitas explored the powerful role of diversity in driving innovation, citing diverse perspectives as essential to problem-solving and creativity. This belief is echoed throughout the company's ethos and has contributed to the organization's evolution
